

Spiritual and Moral Development

Year 8 Home Learning task 1

For Spiritual and Moral Development (SMD) you will have a 3 hour homework project which can be worked on over three weeks. You will be set one project per term which compliments the unit you will be studying. You must have your home learning project it handed in by the deadline issued by your teacher which is on the home-learning calendar. Failure to hand your home learning project in on time will result in a homework failure on your record as well as a teacher set detention

Background to the task.

You are studying 'How do beliefs affect actions and people's lives?' You have looked at how people such as Swampy and Meena have gone to great lengths to stand up for their beliefs and what they think is right.

The task

Is there something that you feel strongly about? You may, for example, feel strongly about cruelty to animals, damage to the environment, or people being treated unfairly. Your homework task is to express your beliefs onto A4 paper using a mixture of writing and pictures. You may also like to think about how these beliefs would affect your actions - for example if you feel that we should not damage the environment then you might include a drawing of yourself doing some recycling. Your work should be well presented and suitable for display.
